Overview

The Nigerian Association for Energy and Environmental Economics was founded following a conference on energy crisis in Nigeria held in the Department of Economics, Nnamdi Azikiwe University, Awka in 2007, based on the incessant energy crisis that is almost constant in Nigeria despite her position in crude petroleum production in the OPEC and the world. AEEEN is a Nigerian, non-profit, professional organization with its operational office at the Department of Economics, Nnamdi Azikiwe University, Awka, Nigeria. It provides an interdisciplinary forum for the exchange of ideas, experiences and issues among professionals interested in the field of energy and environmental economics. AEEEN publishes The Nigerian Journal of Energy and Environmental Economics. Non -members may purchase the journal through the AEEEN website.

Membership AEEEN is open to anyone who has interest in the field of energy, environment or economics: We encourage you to visit our website: www.uchenwogwugwu.worpress.com for more information. If you are interested in joining, our membership section will provide answers and has an online application.

AEEEN's Mission Statement The Nigerian Association for Energy and Environmental Economics is an independent, non-profit, global organization for business, government, academic and other professionals concerned with energy and related issues in Nigeria and Africa. We advance the understanding and application of economics across all aspects of energy and foster communication amongst energy-concerned professionals.

We facilitate

- Worldwide information flow and exchange of ideas on environment, energy, transport and associated issues.
- High quality peer-reviewed research.
- Development and education of students cum environment and energy professionals.

We accomplish this through

- Providing cutting edge publications through print and electronic media.
- Organizing international and regional conferences and workshops.
- Building networks of environment and energy concerned professionals.

Membership in the Nigerian Association for Energy and Environmental Economics is open membership, consists of those working in both the public and private sectors including government, academic and commercial. Our current member base is still small but expectations are that in near future membership to this organization will be very competitive.

You may join/renew AEEEN membership NOW. There are three categories of membership: Life membership; Ordinary membership and Associate membership. Membership in AEEEN must be renewed on an annual basis, and is billed annually. Life membership is one for life and the condition of annual renewal does not apply.

Life membership costs N50,000; Ordinary membership costs N35,000 while Associate membership costs N25,000. Membership offers opportunity of affiliation with the International Association of Energy Economics (AIEE) Nigerian Chapter.

Institutional membership is a special classification for companies or organizations that sponsor AEEEN. You can follow this link or select institutional membership on the navigation bar to the left if you wish to learn more about this plan, and see other companies that have helped AEEEN grow over the years.

Dues for this membership are N300,000 per year. These organization help AEEEN continue to expand its services and offerings to the energy community. Also, depending on the local laws in which your organization resides, a membership such as this may be claimed as a tax-deductible contribution. Please refer to your local tax codes for more information.

When you become an institutional member of AEEEN, you will be able to designate two people from your organization to receive the benefits of a regular membership. You will also receive two complimentary registrations at our conference. You will also receive 50% off exhibit space at AEEEN Conference.

Your company will receive recognition of their institutional membership in the Annual Membership Directory, a listing on our website and acknowledgment in the preliminary and programme announcements for both the AEEEN Conferences.
